Hopper Will Likely Face Carrol Brown in Third Game of New York Series.

By WILLIAM PEET.

One year ago Pitcher Bert Gallia would have been traded for an old bat bag if the average Washington fan had been asked to pass judgment. Today Gallia is rated as one best hurlers on the Washington club, and all because Manager Griffith saw future possibilities sticking out all over the 1914 fire cracker slabman. It was Gallia's fine twirling yester-day that won for the Griffmen the verdict and incidentally jumped the

In the second game Dave Davenport, the Alexander of the Federals, struck out nine men in six innings. A home run, triple, two doubles and a single off Ehmke gave St. Louis seven runs in the ninth inning. Scores:

Persons who have tried to find the reason for the slowness of play in President Johnson's circuit have arrived at the conclusion that the pitchers are to blame. It is charged that there is too much posing in the box, too much throwing to first base to catch runners napping and entirely too much talking with the catchers. If the American League umpires will enforce Rule 33, Section 2, to the letter it is believed that a lot of valuable time can be saved. Judge Landis has promised an "early" decision in the baseball suit argued before him many weeks ago. If he delays much longer his opinion will have to be accompanied by a bill of particulars, that the "fans" may know what it's all about.

Asked if he had complied with the limit rule, Somers, owner of Angeles recently to settle this ques-tion. A field day was held for Pacific tion. A field day was held for Pacific Coast League players for the benefit of the widow of Wallace Bray, better known as "Happy" Hogan, the Venice manager, who died recently. To make the affair a greater success, Howard P. Drew, champion sprinter, was inrited to compete. Drew had never donned a baseball uniform, and was a complete failure at the bunt and run to first base, for at the bunt and run to first base, for time, but in circling the bases Drew equaled the world's record of 13 4-5 seconds, held by Hans Lobert and Ty Cobb, on his first attempt. Drew found it hard to tag the bags and turn properly, and would take no further chances of injury after he had succeeded in equaling the record.

The marvelous sprinter proved conclusively that he would be able to break the record with practice, but it was also urged that some of the fastest ball players could improve their speed, accordingly, with light running togs instead of the heavy baseball uniform, which Drew said was a handicap to him. It was an unfair test, inasmuch as the greatest of all sprinters was picked out, while the fastest ball player has never really been found, as it impossible to have them all compete under similar conditions.

The reckless driver on the London streets is invariably punished, and the number of "accidents" is very limited.

Walter Johnson a Daddy---It's a Boy CORBETT HAS A

Walter Perry Johnson, jr., arrived in our midst at 9 o'clock last night, and his father, Walter Perry Johnson, the well-known pitcher, left New York on the midnight express to catch a glimpse of the baby. Representative Roberts, of Nevads, who is Walter Johnson's fatherin-law, was interviewed last night, but was unable to state whether the new arrival was a southpaw or a right-hander, but he did vouchsafe the information that the haby weighed eight and one-half pounds, possessed a lusty pair of lungs, and that the mother was doing nicely.

Mr. Roberts also stated that the boy would be named after his illustrious father, and added: "I hope he turns out to be as good a man as his daddy, for Walter married my only daughter and forced me to part with the dearest girl in the world. Believe me, it took 'some' man to do that."

Within the past year Eddie Ainsmith and Clyde Milan have both jumped to the family circle lengue, little girls being born to them last winter.
